K-12 EDUCATION SETTINGS AND DISABLED STUDENTS

In the K-12 school context, workplace violence scenarios involving disabled students or students suspected of being disabled require necessary consideration of additional laws and intra-school district coordination with responsible departments (e.g. Student Services, Special Education, Educational Services, etc.). Laws that must be considered include those concerning special education¹, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973² (“Section 504”) and the Americans with Disabilities Act.³

Students that are alleged to have engaged in workplace violence related to school attendance, regardless of disability status, will frequently be subject to disciplinary proceedings, including expulsion. In addition to Pittsburg Unified School District’s board policies and administrative regulations addressing student discipline, Education Code §§ 48900-48927 will need to be consulted with the appropriate district personnel and, if need be, legal counsel.

Students currently identified as disabled, or suspected of being disabled under special education laws and/or Section 504 laws, and subject to removal from school or school activities for violations of codes of conduct such as those found in the Education Code, and that are considered a “change of placement” (e.g. more than 10 days of suspension in a school year, disciplinary transfers to different schools or settings, expulsion, etc.) are likely entitled to additional legal protection in the form of manifestation determination meetings⁴ that potentially can halt continued school removal absent narrow exceptions that allow removals of no more than 45 school days in accordance with narrowly tailored parameters.⁵ In addition to manifestation determinations connected to students with individualized education programs (“IEP”) or those that should have an IEP but do not⁶, the law also favors manifestation determinations for Section 504 eligible students that are subject to a “significant change of placement” arising out school related misconduct.⁷

Additionally, IEP eligible students involved in behavioral emergencies, defined as “unpredictable, spontaneous behavior that poses clear and present danger of serious physical harm to the individual with exceptional needs, or others, and that cannot be immediately prevented by a response less restrictive than

² See 29 U.S.C. § 794 and corresponding regulations found at Title 34 C.F.R. §§ 104.1-104.61.

³ See 42 U.S.C. §§ 12101 et seq. and corresponding regulations found at Title 34 C.F.R. §§

⁴ See 20 U.S.C. § 1415(k)(1) and (7); Title 34 C.F.R. 300.530.

⁶ See 20 U.S.C. § 1415(k)(5); Title 34 C.F.R. § 300.534.

the temporary application of a technique used to contain the behavior”⁸ will be entitled under California law to additional considerations, including but not limited to, the potential right to an IEP meeting within two days of the behavior emergency in qualifying scenarios.⁹

⁸ See Education Code § 56521.1(a).

⁹ See Education Code § 56521.1(g).
